Campaign Launched to Solidify Efforts to Protect the Taunton River

Sheehan Family Foundation Funding Will Continue Efforts To Protect Land and Water Resources

A new campaign to protect water and land resources throughout the Taunton River Watershed was launched today with the help of $250,000 in grants from the Sheehan Family Foundation to nine environmental groups and a regional planning agency. The Foundation, based in Kingston, is funding work in the Taunton River watershed, which extends from Halifax to Narragansett Bay. The funding will link up environmental groups and municipalities working to protect natural resources.

The Foundation funding will increase the ability of environmental groups in the Taunton River region to take steps to protect watershed resources. SRPEDD, the regional planning agency, will provide technical assistance to towns in the region to help them meet the challenges of growth.

The Campaign builds on ongoing efforts across the region, and aims to bring together and solidify ties among the organizations and municipalities. These efforts include the Taunton River Stewardship Program, National Wild and Scenic Study, the Woods Hole Research Center mapping project, the Southeastern Massachusetts Environmental Collaborative, and the Watershed Action Alliance. In particular, the recent votes by municipalities along the river to support federal Wild and Scenic designation for the Taunton River played a critical role in the Sheehan Foundation's decision to launch the campaign.

"In the past several years we have seen many positive developments in the effort to preserve natural resources in the region," said Margaret Sheehan, Executive Director of the Sheehan Family Foundation. "Local support for the Wild and Scenic designation and the Nature Conservancy's recent decision to add the Taunton River to its list of global priorities provides a great impetus to all of us to step up and make a difference. We continue to face many challenges in the effort to protect natural resources in the region, and working together these groups can enhance their effectiveness." she added.

Sheehan Family Foundation grants will go to the following organizations:

- Taunton River Watershed Alliance
- Save the Bay – Narragansett Bay, Providence, RI

- Southeastern Regional Planning and Economic Development District
- The Nature Conservancy, Massachusetts Chapter
- The Trust for Public Land
- The Trustees of Reservations
- Wildlands Trust of Southeastern Massachusetts
- Environmental League of Massachusetts
- Manomet Center for Conservation Science
- Mass Audubon

“By supporting increased and coordinated efforts by local governments, watershed associations, and land trusts, we can ensure that funding and human resources are used efficiently and in a targeted manner,” Sheehan said. “Each group has something different to offer and coordination will ensure that priority natural resources are protected. This will help municipalities make informed decisions in guiding future development. Growth and development will happen, but identifying environmental priorities ensures growth happens in a way that supports biodiversity, keeps the water clean, and preserves the character of our communities.” Sheehan continued.

The Sheehan Family Foundation was established in 1992. Its mission is to protect the environment and enhance the quality of education. It is endowed by L. Knife & Son, Inc. an Anheuser-Busch distributor serving Southeastern Massachusetts, Cape Cod, and the Islands. Grants made by the Foundation since 1992 total nearly $7 million

“We are proud to be able to support the work of these organizations and individuals in this region. We have worked with many of them before and look forward to having an impact to help protect the environment in the area,” said Tim Sheehan, General Manager and an owner of the fourth generation family business, L. Knife & Son, Inc.
